“For my friends, who always know who they are.”

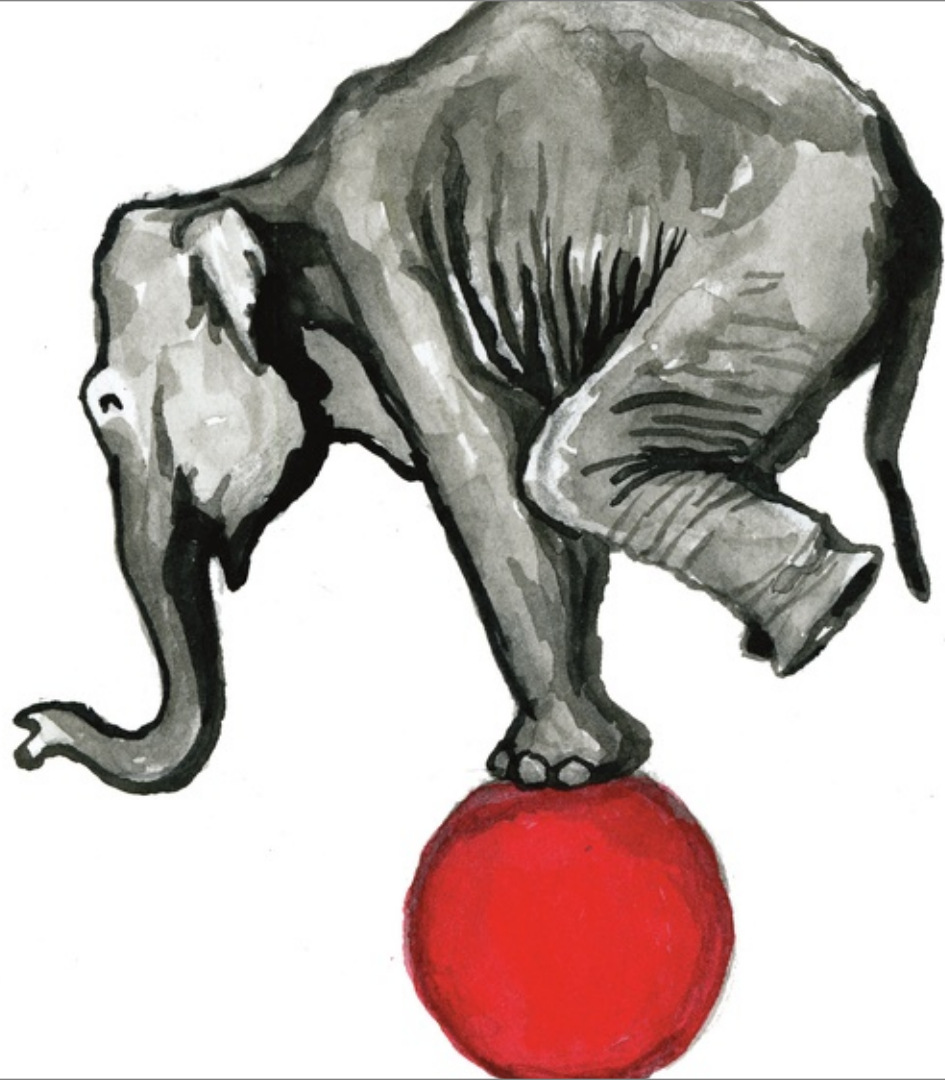

We all find good friends.

You know who they are.

Let them dream their dreams,

help them fly when they fall.

Watch as they wander,

a reason for the ride.

What your friendship is lies inside of your link.

The closer the friends...

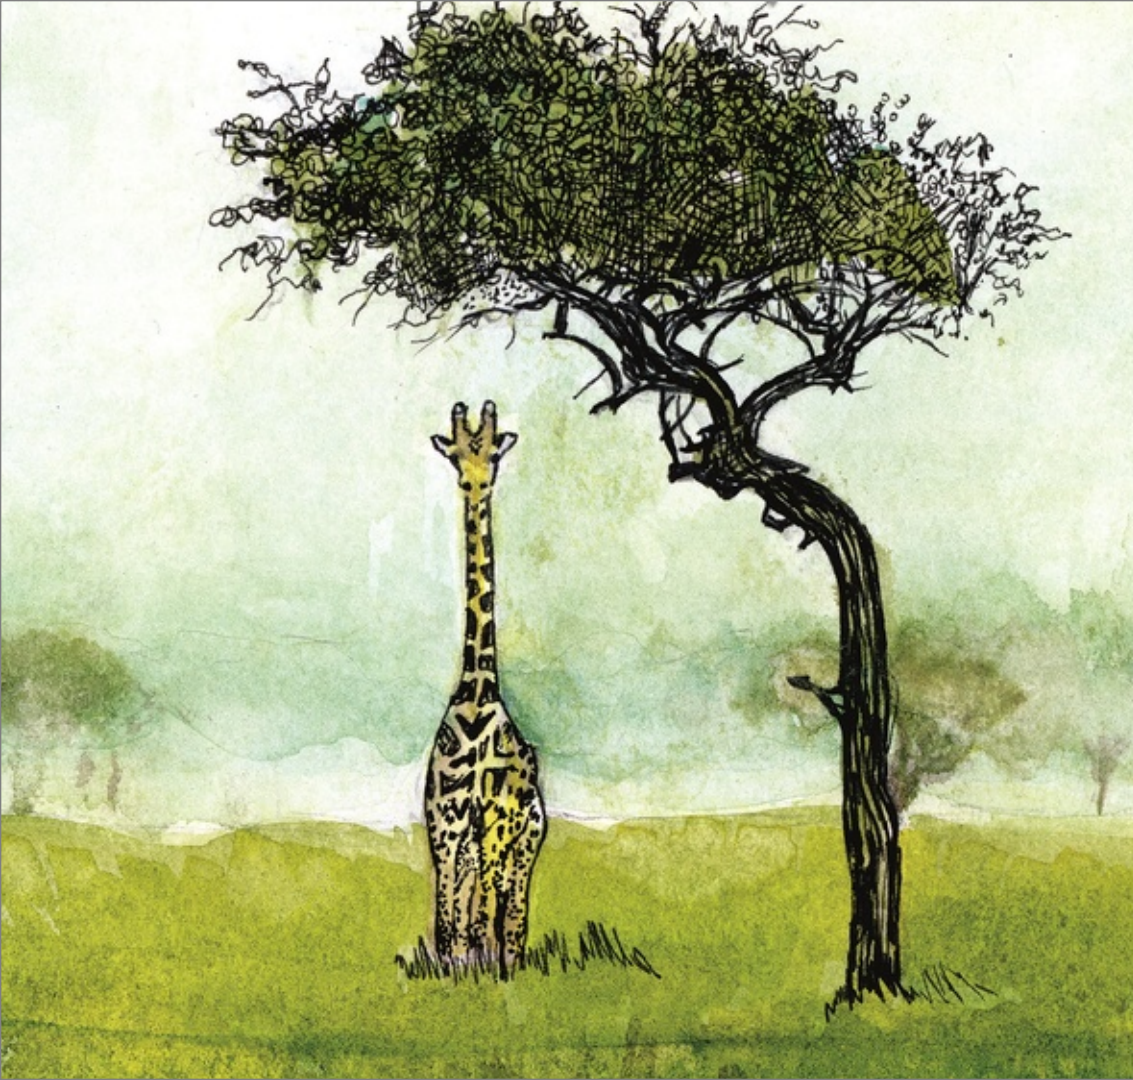

the less that you'll think.

See them as someone

of whom you can be proud.

However you see them,

they stand out in a crowd.

The world needs your stories
